Pi Kappa Alpha Ball.

The most brilliant event of the social season at the university, or concerning university circles, was the Pi Kappa Alpha ball held last night at the Elks' ball room. From 9 o'clock to a late hour this morning the members of the fraternity, other representatives of the Greek world, the faculty and friends, with their ladies, enjoyed such hospitality as only the Pi Kappa Alphas know how to dispense.

The affair was a success from start to finish, perhaps because every detail of organization was carried out well in advance. The decorations were charmingly done in a way to remind one, not too obtrusively, of the fact that this was a Pi Kappa Alpha function, and the floor was excellent.

With good music and a beautiful evolution served in the intermission nothing was lacking to make the affair one long to be remembered.

The committees in charge follow:

Arrangements — Messrs. Bruno Dieckman, N. M. Akers, Elmer E. Friday, Herbert Sherman, Ray McNamee.

Flour — Louis Hesseliden and Elmer Friday.

Refreshments — Charles Lemire, Ernest Hammond, Ira Holt, Paul Gatt, Gordon Goss, Leslie Holdt, Nelson F. Newman and J. W. Miller.

Reception — George Pinney, Howard Fullerton, Glenn Emmons, Joe McCausland, Floyd Lee, George White, L. J. Quadrat, Chester Creel, Frank Gaines, John Emmons and Robert Hopewell.

A feature of the evening was the formation by the members of Pi Kappa Alpha and their ladies, carrying parasols trimmed in garnet and old gold, of the fraternity letters in the middle of the floor as a figure of the grand march. The fraternity members wore each a lily of the valley, the fraternity flower, throughout the evening.

The guest list follows:

Messrs. Lloyd Storrs, Grover Devine, Joe Smithson, George Neher, Joe Goulden, George Doolittle, A. C. Kirkland, Harold Greenleaf, Ois Wood, Amato Chaver, Herbert Hickes, Dr. Lovelace, N. G. M. ## John Simms' Return.

Mr. John Field Simms and his bride have returned to take up their residence in Albuquerque. Mrs. Simms, who was Miss Schubert before her marriage, was the honored guest at a round of pre-nuptial affairs. The wedding took place in Texarkana, Arkansas. The following account of the wedding is taken from a Texarkana paper:

The marriage of Miss Anna Schubert to John Field Simms was celebrated at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Arkansas, Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock. The large auditorium was filled with the friends of this popular couple whose marriage was an important event of social season.

The floral effects for decorating were arranged with artistic simplicity in green and white. Large white chrysanthemums and graceful white maline love-lies-bleu were combined with ferns. The altar was lined with southern smilax and white maline against a white background. Ad-potted ferns were placed in effective arrangement. Above the altar was an immense hall of perfect white chrysanthemums, maline and fern. Mrs. Carlton A. Case presided at the organ with a brilliant mixture of appropriate numbers. During the ceremony the beautiful melody of a love song composed by Mr. Case was very sweet and appealing. The bride was assisted to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march with Mendelssohn's as the recessional. Rev. James Thomas of Little Rock officiated during the ceremony. The ushers were Messrs. James A. Buchanan, A. H. Whitmarsh, W. E. Eells, Paul Celia, Dr. Thomas P. Kitterell and Dr. T. E. Fuller. The ushers were followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Lou Dale, Linda Kirk and Leslie Conway with the groomsmen, Messrs. Henry Holman, Dan Johnston, George Schubert and Henry Monte Jr. The bridesmaids wore lovely gowns of green fabric and maline and carried exquisite sprays of white chrysanthemums and ferns. Mrs. William E. Eells, maid of honor, wore a handsome gown of white georgette crepe over satin with Spanish lace and maline trimmings. She also, carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums and ferns. Miss Adeline Pyle of Kaufman, Texas, was maid of honor. Her dress was a beautiful model in white satin and maline with silver lace. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and ferns with a shower of maline. The bride entered with her grandfather, Dr. A. G. Coston, who gave her in marriage. At the altar they were met by the groom who was attended by his father, Captain Thomas H. Simms, as best man. The bride was lovely in a modish gown of white duchess satin with trimmings of lace and pearls. Her striking beauty was enhanced by a becoming veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms; she carried an exquisite bouquet of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley with a shower of maline and delicate ferns.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Helm, in the Webster Place. Only the bridal party and relatives of the couple were present. The rooms were attractively done in white chrysanthemums and ferns. In the dining room the table was lovely in green and white. A shower of green and white maline and white chrysanthemums fell from the chandelier. A lovely wedding cake embossed with roses and decorated with a miniature bride and groom graced the table as the centerpiece. In cutting the cake, the traditional symbols were found. Miss Kate Watson Beckman presided over the punch table. Mr. and Mrs. Helm were assisted in the courtesies of the evening by the groom's parents, Captain and Mrs. Thomas H. Simms, and the bride's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Coston. Mr. and Mrs. Simms left at 4 o'clock for Albuquerque, New Mexico, where Mr. Simms is an established lawyer. Upon their arrival there they will occupy an attractive new home recently built by the groom. The bride's traveling costume was a stylish suit of midnight blue cloth with accessories to harmonize.

Innovation at Elks' Club.

Something of an innovation will be sprung at the Elks' club tomorrow evening, when the first of the "Sunday dinners" will be held. ## The Daily Fashion Hint.

Broadway Church Men's Banquet.

Last night the men of the Broadway Christian church, with a few invited guests, met in their annual banquet. The occasion was an enjoyable one for all present.

Prof. R. B. Hill of the university, acted as toastmaster and handled the varied program with much tact.

Several speakers took part. Hugo Corey spoke on behalf of the young men of the church, emphasizing the Baraca movement. Prof. John Milne, superintendent of the city schools, spoke briefly on "What the Church Should Be Doing," and emphasized the obligation owed to the young people of the community.

Mr. Dearing emphasized the work of the Sunday school and Mr. Mizé had words of welcome and appreciation from the church board for the loyalty and friendship of the men present.

He was followed by Senator Isaac Barth, who spoke earnestly and entertainingly about the work of the church, and his appreciation of it.

Mrs. Crossen had a witty speech on "Man" and Signor Santa Emma entertained the audience with his curtain.

The banquet was served by the ladies of the church and was enjoyed by all. About fifty members and guests attended.

Woman's Club Concert.

A musical treat of much interest to local lovers of harmony will be a concert presented next week at the Woman's club building under the club auspices.

Mrs. Donovan and Miss Trott, chairman and director, respectively, of the club's musical department, have arranged a splendid program for the affair, to be given in the evening, so that the gentlemen may share in the enjoyment.

Recital at Church.

The recital given at the Lutheran church Tuesday evening was an artistic and financial success.

Mr. Padel never has been heard to better advantage in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Hickman was heard for the first time by Albuquerque music lovers who encored her masterly piano solo deservedly.

Miss Hickman was formerly assistant under Severtin Frank, director of the New Orleans symphony orchestra.

Miss Selbie played in her usual pleasing style.

T. E. L. Class Meets.

The annual election of officers was a feature of the meeting of the T. E. L. class of the Baptist Sunday school yesterday at the home of Mrs. N. H. Kimball, 209 South Arno street, yesterday afternoon. The officers for this year were re-elected for the coming twelve months.

Work for the new year was planned and new committees appointed.

Dainty refreshments were served by the novices.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Trimble, 295 North Walker street.

TRY A HERALD WANT AD.

Domestic Science Club.

Yesterday was Domestic Science day at the Woman's club with favorite plum pudding recipes exchanged and other Christmas edibles discussed generally.

Mrs. C. T. Kirk was leader for the day. Mrs. J. G. Gould talked on good housekeeping for the home.

A piano solo by Miss Mandell was an enjoyable feature and a demonstration of good things closed the program. The menu included Christmas pudding with egg foam sauce, cake and coffee. Mrs. Kistler and Mrs. Hall served.
